Presented by the Institute of Critical Thinking & the National Philosophical Counseling Association, this 3-Day intensive workshop teaches participants how to engage in philosophical counseling using Logic-Based Therapy (LBT), one of the world’s leading modalities of philosophical counseling. Conducted by Elliot D. Cohen, Ph.D., founder of LBT, Samuel Zinaich, Jr., Ph.D., Associate Executive Director, NPCA, and a panel of experts, the workshop includes a counseling practicum & covers the theory, process, application and practice of LBT. Participants can receive up to 7.9 NBCC credit hours & may have an opportunity for publication.

Approved NBCC Sessions include: LBT & Cognitive Behavior Therapy (80min.), LBT & Person-Centered Therapy + Q & A (90min), 1st Interactive Discussion on Counseling Experience (60min), Q & A for LBT & Grieving (15min), Ethical Practice + Q & A (90min), 2nd Interactive Discussion on Counseling Experience (60min).
